

NATIONAL DIRECTORS

The NAR Directors from Arkansas are automatically members of the Arkansas REALTORS® Association's Board of Directors. The Directors of the National Association of REALTORS® from Arkansas are the liaison between the Arkansas REALTORS® Association and NAR. As such, they assume a position of leadership, not administration. National Directors represent Arkansas REALTORS® at the national level, providing effective, accurate input to NAR for its consideration in decisions concerning NAR positions and policies. Thus, National Directors must maintain communication with the ARA Board of Directors and must be aware of and open to the needs and desires of ARA membership. Conversely, the National Directors are expected to keep the ARA Board of Directors informed on relevant issues and positions of the National Association of REALTORS®.

National Directors are expected to attend the following meetings:

- All meetings of the Arkansas REALTORS® Association's Board of Directors *
- NAR's Mid-Year Conference in Washington D. C. *
- NAR Board of Director Meetings. *
- ARA's State Convention and its Board of Directors * meeting.
- NAR's Annual Convention*
- ARA's Leadership Conference *

 Mandatory meetings with required attendance policy: Attendance shall be required. Upon the third absence during the entire term as NAR Director, resignation shall be automatic. An excused absence is only when the member is attending another ARA or NAR Meeting held at the same time. The ARA President shall determine such resignations. Should such resignation be instituted, the NAR Director may file a written request to the ARA Board of Directors for reinstatement explaining the reasons for absences. If reinstated, one additional absence shall automatically be a final resignation without the ability to submit for reinstatement.*
